

Accessing our UNSW clinic

Our UNSW clinic is located on the Kensington campus of the University of New South Wales. You will find us on the ground floor of the South Wing of the Rupert Myers Building.

Travelling by car

During your appointment your pupils may be dilated which can impair your vision for several hours. It is best to organise for someone else to drive, or allow time in your schedule to wait until your normal vision returns before driving.

Using a GPS

We are located within the university campus, so many GPS systems don't accept our address. The best address to use is 52 Barker Street, Kingsford 2032. Gate 14, which leads to our clinic and the best parking, is directly opposite and clearly marked.

Parking

The best parking is Barker Street Parking Station on campus at UNSW. To get here, turn right after entering Gate 14, and follow the road for 100m. You must park front-to-kerb or risk damage to your car. You have two options to park here:

- Patient-allocated parking: On the ground level we have 6 allocated spaces for patients which are painted green and have our logo displayed on the wall above. Once parked, collect a parking voucher from reception to display on your dashboard.
- General parking: you can also park within Barker St Parking Station in any spot on Level 5 or above, but you need to pay for your spot using the CellOPark app. Once parked, select the zone number that your car is in within the app, or scan the QR code displayed above your space. Hit START to start your session, and STOP to end your session when you return to your car.

- There is street parking available near campus, however given these are 1-2 hour spots and demand is high when students are on campus, this is not recommended for patients of our clinic.

Travelling by public transport

You will need an Opal card, or an Australian debit/credit card to use public transport. The public transport infoline is 131 500 for more information.

From Central Station

The easiest and most direct route via public transport from Central Station is via light rail. The light rail interchange is on Chalmers Street.

The best service to take is L3 service, alighting at UNSW Anzac Parade. There is a short walk once you alight to reach our clinic: please use the attached map to navigate through campus via the University Mall.

From Bondi Junction

Catch the 390X bus from Stand L, alight at UNSW High Street, and use the attached map to navigate through campus via the Quadrangle Lawn.

From Circular Quay

Take the L3 light rail service and alight at UNSW Anzac Parade. There is a short walk once you alight to reach our clinic: please use the attached map to navigate through campus via the University Mall.
